Scholarships

Cobell Scholarship

Undergraduate Scholarship – Application Period: December 15 to March 31 Annually

The Undergraduate Cobell Scholarship aims to support:

- Enrolled members of U.S. federally recognized American Indian tribes and Alaska Native corporations. A dropdown list of these tribes and corporations is available in the application system.
- Individuals pursuing a bachelor's degree (BA or BS) at a nonprofit public or private institution.

Students working towards an associate of arts degree (AA), also known as a 2-year degree, while attending a nonprofit public or private institution.

Native Forward

Basic Eligibility Information

- Degree-seeking students must be enrolled full-time at an accredited institution within the U.S.
- All applicants need to provide proof of Tribal affiliation through a Tribal Eligibility Certificate. Each opportunity has its own specific Tribal eligibility criteria; please review them carefully to confirm your eligibility.
- Applicants are required to submit a Financial Needs Form (FNF) by July 15 for every academic year. Additionally, students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) each academic year to qualify for the Native Forward Scholars Fund.

Furthermore, students must be eligible for federal financial aid. Those ineligible due to academic suspension, expulsion, failure to meet satisfactory academic progress standards, or educational loan default may not qualify for the Native Forward Scholars Fund.

American Indian College Fund

- Be enrolled with your respective Native Nation, whether it is federally recognized or non-federally recognized, from the continental U.S. or Alaska.
- Provide a copy of your Native Nation enrollment (there is no minimum blood quantum requirement for eligibility). Acceptable documents include a copy of the student's Native Nation I.D. card or an official letter from the Nation. You must be recognized as a citizen or member of your Tribal Nation.
- Maintain full-time student status.
- Achieve a minimum GPA of 2.5 on a 4.0 scale.
- Submit a current class schedule along with your transcript.
- Attend an accredited institution pursuing an Associate's Degree or higher (please note that the Association does not fund certificate programs or seminaries).
- Include essays in the application that illustrate the student's connection to their Native Nation and Native Country.

Scholar of the Month

Alicia Campos
AAS Nursing

How does it feel to be scholar of the month?

"I am really shocked and grateful!"

Do you have any study habits that you would recommend to other students? What are they?

"If I would recommend anything it would be group sessions."

What is your favorite thing about TRIO/SSS?

"I think the most fulfilling thing is the extra support I have from TRIO."

Where do you plan to transfer?

"If I plan to transfer, I would transfer to the University of Oregon."

Is there someone you are particularly thankful for and would like to acknowledge?

"I would like to thank my parents."

What are 5 fun facts about you?

- I like to watch K-Dramas
- I like to make sour dough bread
- I'm really into hiking
- I'm addicted to watching anime: favorite is Jujutsu Kaisen
- I like college football

Preparing for Exams

Effective midterm preparation combines organized planning, active study techniques, and stress management to maximize performance.

- Plan and Organize

- Develop a study schedule that divides your courses into manageable segments, allocating specific times for each subject. Collect all your notes and handouts to ensure you have everything you need.

- Active Study Techniques

- Process your notes and create summaries that emphasize vital concepts while omitting less significant details. Instead of cramming, study consistently over days or weeks to strengthen your memory and alleviate stress.

- Optimize Your Environment

- Select a quiet, well-lit space free from distractions for your study sessions. Divide your study time into focused intervals, such as 50 minutes of concentrated effort followed by a 10-minute break to help maintain your attention.

- Manage Stress and Health

- Prioritize sufficient rest and balanced meals to enhance cognitive performance. Incorporate short walks and stretches to alleviate anxiety and boost concentration. Consider utilizing tutoring or study groups for clarification on challenging concepts.

- Final Review

- Before your exam, take the time to review all your notes and key concepts thoroughly.

TRIO/SSS Advisors American Indian Law Center Training

This training focused on training advisors who support or encourage American Indian and Alaska Natives to pursue the path to law school.

Topics covered during this training included:

The Need for Native Attorneys

Preparing Students for Law School

Resources and Best Practices for Advisors

Native American Student Perspectives

The staff from ASU, Berkeley, UNLV, and UNM offered comprehensive insights into the journey of becoming a law student following the completion of a bachelor's degree. The training guided advisors through key steps, including:

Preparing students for law school and understanding student's needs.
Understanding admission processes, timeline, requirements and cost
Advising on law school selection, applications, letters of recommendation, and personal statements
Financial Aid 101

Sophia Francisco

"I really enjoyed attending this advisor training, they gave us so much information. Starting with the need for Native American Attorneys as they represent about 0.5% of all U.S. Attorneys. Considering there are over 570 federally recognized tribes, increased representation is vital for tribal sovereignty and to address trust obligations tied to land, water and resources. The sessions were well thought out and encouraging. During our working lunch sessions we got to meet some professionals who went through the AILC- PSLI Program, that is when we got to meet Deb Holland. It was an honor to meet these former students and getting to hear about their experience in school and where they are now practicing law. I could visualize our students in this field."

Tara Platero

"I was truly honored and excited to be introduced to Deb Haaland. Meeting such a strong and influential Native leader was an inspiring moment for me. It meant so much to stand beside someone who has paved the way for Native representation and continues to advocate for our communities. It was a powerful and unforgettable experience."
